

MARTHA T.⁶, REUBEN W., WILLIAM G., ANN HARDAWAY, AND EDWARD PEGRAM

Issue of Edward Pegram and Dorothy Gilliam

MARTHA T. PEGRAM⁶, daughter of Edward Pegram and Dorothy Gilliam, was born about 1814, most likely in Sussex County, Virginia. She moved to Hardeman County, Tennessee with her parents in 1829 or 30. She was married to Mumford Wilson, 8 June 1835, in Hardeman County, Tennessee.

"Dr. Mumford Wilson from North Carolina and later Tennessee came to Tippah County, Mississippi in 1839, and practiced in New Albany, settling in Alberson first" (118, p. 147). Alberson was at that time in Tippah County. It appears most likely that this was the Mumford Wilson that married Martha T. Pegram. Dr. Wilson was in Tennessee before going to Tippah County, and Martha was in Hardeman County, Tennessee. Wilson went to Tippah County about the same time that Martha's parents moved there in 1838. Martha was born in 1814, making her 24 years of age at the time. Martha's brother, Reuben, was a doctor, and the few doctors in the area probably were acquainted, and Dr. Wilson may have had an opportunity to meet Martha in this manner. Mumford is not a very common Christian name, and the date and localities are compatible for such a marriage.

DR. REUBEN W. PEGRAM⁶, son of Edward Pegram and Dorothy Gilliam, was born in Virginia in 1818, likely in Sussex County. He moved with his parents to Hardeman County, Tennessee. He married Mary E. Brown 10 September 1847, in Fayette, Tennessee. Census records indicate her birth year at 1831. After her death Reuben married Victoria Beloate, in Hardeman County, Tennessee, in 1860. Dr. Pegram was in Tippah County, Mississippi in 1850, where he was listed as an owner in the county slave schedule, but he was living in Hardeman County, Tennessee in 1860. He practiced medicine in the Saulsbury-Grand Junction area. Old masonic records show that he was a member of Berlin Lodge 170 in Saulsbury. He is mentioned in the minutes of the lodge in each of the years from 1859 through 1865, and may have been a member before and after these dates. It is of interest to the compiler that his great grandfather, Hardeman Carroll Simmons, Hardeman's uncle B.P. Simmons, and Hardeman's two brothers, Dr. Caswell and Newton, were also members of Berlin Lodge 170, during part of the period that Reuben Pegram was a member. Little did they know that the Pegram and Simmons families would later be joined in a number of marriages.

Dr. Pegram had eight children, four by each wife as follows:

By Mary E. Brown:

EDWARD B.⁷, b. 1849. Probably died young.

JOHN EPPS, b. 27 June 1850; see below.

THOMAS, b. 1851, moved to Texas.

EMILY CORNELIA, b. about 1854, moved to Texas.

By Victoria Beloate:

EDWARD TODD⁷, b. 24 March 1873; d. 7 April 1961.

REUBEN YOUNG, b. 16 Dec. 1876.

FLETCHER, b. probably Grand Junction, Tenn.

KATE, lived in Tippah Co., Miss.

DR. JOHN EPPS PEGRAM⁷, son of Reuben Pegram and Mary E. Brown, was born in Saulsbury, Tennessee, 7 June 1850, and died in Ripley, Mississippi, 4 December 1922 (118). He married Mary Catherine Pankey, 7 December 1869. Mary Catherine was born 18 October 1849, and died 9 March 1907. She is buried at Little Hope Cemetery at Dumas, Mississippi. On 12 September 1907, Dr. Pegram married Mrs. Rosa Lee Nance, in Tippah County, Mississippi. There was no issue from this marriage (19, 121). The compiler remembers Dr. Pegram and his second wife. Dr. John Epps Pegram and Catherine Pankey had nine children: JOSIE ETTA⁸, BAKER MACK, GLENNIE DORA, THOMAS EDWARD, ROGER WHITFIELD, EARL, MARY CATHERINE, ROBERT HUGH and ROY EPPS.

He was buried in Memphis Memorial Park. Baker Mack married Ellen Crowder, 17 October 1897. She was born 5 February 1880 at Falkner, Mississippi and died in Memphis 10 October 1952. Baker Mack was a railroad locomotive engineer and lived at Jackson, Tennessee, before going to Memphis in 1947. When I was a young boy I remember either him or his brother, Roger, running through Ripley, Mississippi on what was then the Gulf Mobile and Northern Railroad. One day he let me climb up into the cab with him while the engine was sitting at the railroad depot, a huffing and a puffing. This was an event of the year for me, and something that I could boast to my playmates about. Baker was with the railroad forty two years before retirement. He was an ardent fox hunter, and widely known among that fraternity. He was only a small boy when his parents left Virginia, and settled in Hardeman County, Tennessee. He was there until 1838, when his parents moved to the Falkner area of Tippah County, Mississippi. He would have been about sixteen years of age at the time. He married Elexina R. Royster about 1851. She was the daughter of Richard C. Royster of Tippah County.

On 16 February 1852 Elexina's father made a deed to her, as party of the second part, and to Richard C. Royster as party of the third part, wherein he gave, for natural love and affection, four negro slaves. The slaves were conveyed in trust to Richard C. Royster Jr. for the sole use and benefit of Elexina R. Pegram, his daughter. They and their increase were to pass to her children. If there were no children the property would return to her father, if living, otherwise to his children.

Major Pegram was shown as having six slaves in the 1850 slave census of Tippah County. The agriculture schedule showed him with 535 acres of land. In the 1860 census he was shown with real estate valued at $3500 and personal property worth $10,000.

William G. Pegram was in the Confederate Army, Confederate State of Mississippi, Tippah County.

We hereby certify that the Volunteer Company called the "Tippah Rangers" met at their parade ground (to wit) at James Childer's, in said County, on 25th. day of February, 1862, and organized by the election of John Y. Murry, Capt., W.G. Pegram, 1st. Lieut, John D. Morrow and George Wright, 2nd. Lieuts. Said Company numbers 70 men whose names are as follows . . ." Signed W.A. Brinkman.

This company became Company A of the 34th. Regiment, Mississippi Infantry. First Lieutenant Pegram succeeded Capt. Murry of Company A, when the latter was appointed Assistant Surgeon. Pegram was subsequently promoted to Major. He held this rank when he was wounded at the battle of Chickamauga on 19 September 1863, and was sent to interior hospital. Major Pegram remained in the Confederate Army until 16 March 1864 (123). He had to cease active duty because of trouble from his wounds. He was always known as Major Bill.

Elexina, William's wife, must have died young, since he married Theodocia Clay Hines, daughter of Hiram Hines and Serena Sherrard, of the Hopewell Community in Tippah County, now Benton County, Mississippi, 4 March 1861. No record has been found of any issue of Major Pegram and Elexina Royster. There were two children of William and Theodocia:

WILLIE A. PEGRAM⁷, a female, and first child of William G. Pegram and Theodocia Hines, was born in 1862, and died in 1871. She was buried in the Hines Family Cemetery at Hopewell. Her grave bears a marker.

SUE AYDOLETTE PEGRAM⁷, known as "Sue Ida", or most commonly as Ida, was born in 1865. She married James T. Proctor, 10 November 1887. After the death of Major Bill, Theodocia, Ida and her husband, Mr. Proctor, moved to Farmville, Texas, just north of Dallas, where Frank Hines, Theodocia's brother lived. They traveled by train in the winter of 1893. They initially leased property from Frank Hines, but in 1896 they settled on a farm at Nevada, near Farmville, in Collins County, Texas.

Sue Ida and Mr. Proctor had three children: ALICE⁸, born in 1888 and died in 1905; MABEL, born in 1890, married C.F. Jones of Nevada. In 1977 she was living in Dallas and was 87 years of age. WILLIE P. PROCTOR, the third child, was born in 1893. He married Mattie Jones, and lived in Dallas, Texas, (124).

Major Bill Pegram is buried at the Hines Family Cemetery at Hopewell. His gravestone gives no dates, only the following: "Major William Pegram 34th. Mississippi Infantry C.S.A." Theodocia, his wife, died 4 March 1909 near Copeville, Texas and is buried in Thompson Cemetery near there. Sue Ida died in 1948, and is also buried in Thompson Cemetery near her mother. Jim Proctor died at the age of 93 (124).

Major Pegram was active in military and political affairs of the area. He was a lawyer and a member of the Mississippi Senate, from Tippah County during 1870-72 (153). After his release from the Confederate Army, he spent the remainder of his life practicing law and farming. According to information that has been handed down through the family, Major Bill was a swashbuckling individual, both in military and civilian life. He was engaged in a number of activities in his life, and apparently did justice to them all.

ANN HARDAWAY PEGRAM⁶, daughter of Edward Pegram and Dorothy Gilliam, was born in 1825, in Virginia, likely Sussex County. Her parents left Virginia soon after her birth. She had a brother born in Alabama in 1829, and her parents were in Hardeman County, Tennessee in 1830, and in Tippah County, Mississippi in 1838 or 39. Ann married Lemuel L. Gibson, who was born 29 September 1818 in Guilford County, North Carolina. Mr. Gibson was the son of Moses Gibson, born 9 February 1783 and Elizabeth Paisley, born 25 June 1785, both of Guilford County, North Carolina. Moses Gibson was the son of the emigrant, Andrew Gibson and wife Jane Freeland.

The 1850 census of Tippah County shows Lemuel L. Gibson 32, farmer, born North Carolina, Ann H. Gibson 25, born Virginia ALBERT W. GIBSON⁷, 2, born in Mississippi and WHITFIELD (W.G.) GIBSON, 4 months, born in Mississippi. They had an additional child VIRGINIA, born in 1852. The 1860 census of Tippah County shows Ann H. Gibson⁶ and her three children, Albert, W.G., and Virginia living with Ann's father Edward Pegram in Tippah County. Ann's husband, Lemuel Gibson, may have died after the 1850 census.

VIRGINIA GIBSON⁷, Ann's youngest child, married Frank Hines, son of Hiram Hines and Serena Sherrard of Hopewell, now in Benton County. Frank as previously noted was the brother of Theodocia Hines, the wife of Major Bill Pegram⁶, Virginia's uncle. He was also the brother of Louisa Caroline Hines, wife of Hardeman C. Simmons, and great grandmother of the compiler. Virginia's husband Frank Hines was born 27 March 1850 in Tippah County, and Virginia was born in 1852. They were married 9 February 1871.

According to Craig (124), Benjamin Franklin Hines pursued an ambitious and promising course of self advancement in his early manhood. After marrying Virginia Gibson they moved to Freestone County, Texas. This was about the time that his sister Clarissa Hines, wife of Dr. Henry Hiram Blanchard moved there in 1877. In the early 1880s, Frank in an attempt to advance his grocery business moved to Farmville, Texas, where he eventually owned appreciable property. In the year

1889 he began investing in rental property in the Oak Cliff area of Dallas, and on the Ft. Worth Road. His wife Virginia died in 1890, when Frank was only forty. It was said that after her death he seemed to lose interest, became somewhat of an eccentric, and lived off of his investments. Apparently because of negligent management he lost much of his property through default. He died in Dallas 5 February 1909, and was buried in Oak Cliff Cemetery in Dalls, beside his beloved "Jenny" (Craig 124).

Virginia and Frank had five children: CHARLES W.⁸, born in 1872, and killed by a falling log in 1876; EFFIE E., born in 1874. She married John Maclin, a childhood friend in Tennessee, and returned there with her husband. They are buried at Grand Junction, Tennessee. FRANK LEON was born in 1877 and died in 1938. He never married, and is buried in the Farmville, Texas Cemetery. EVA G. "PET" was born in September 1881 and died in 1950. She married G.W. Howell of Farmville on 12 October 1913. There was no issue. Pet's second marriage was to a Mr. Barron of Alabama about 1940. She died in Alabama. OTHO SHELTON⁸ was the last child of Virginia and Frank. He was born in April 1886 and died in October 1929. Otho married Lucille Allen in 1915. There was no issue. He died in McKinney, Texas.

The marriage of Virginia Gibson to Frank Hines constituted the ninth known marriage between the Pegram, the Hines and the Simmons families, none being blood related.

EDWARD PEGRAM⁶, youngest child of Edward Pegram and Dorothy Gilliam, was born in Alabama in 1829, according to census records. There is no apparent record of his father having lived in Alabama. He was in Virginia in 1825 and in Tennessee in 1830. As previously noted he may have sojourned in Alabama on his way to Tennessee. Edward⁶ never married, and died in Tippah County, Mississippi.
